

Scholarship Opportunity

Iowa Women in Natural Resources (IWINR) encourages young adults to pursue careers in the natural resources fields, which include jobs in wildlife, fisheries, and environmental management; forest resources; nongame specialists; environmental education; conservation law enforcement; and various related fields.

IWINR is sponsoring a non gender-based scholarship as noted below:

Minimum Requirement

- Enrolled in or plan to enroll in an Iowa university, college, or community college
- Pursuing a career in a natural resources field
- Currently working on a conservation project or are planning to work on one
- Present project at IWINR's annual conference
  - Location TBD
  - 20 minute presentation (15 minute lecture, 5 minute Q&A)
  - Details and flexibility related to presentation format and travel to be discussed with the selected applicant

Scholarship Conditions

IWINR will award a one-time scholarship of $500.00 to the applicant who receives the highest score awarded by the Selection Committee. The stipend will be payable to the school, not the recipient, the fall semester following the award year. The successful applicant must submit a final project report to IWINR prior to the start of the fall semester. The applicant with the highest score will be invited to present at the IWINR conference.

Selection Criteria

The Selection Committee will score applications based on the following criteria:

1. Project Description - 50 points
  - a. How does your project relate to conservation as it applies to science and our natural resources?
  - b. Completeness of project description
  - c. Expected outcome/s of project
  - d. Feasibility of implementing project outcome/s
2. Personal Essay - 50 points
  - a. Education goals
  - b. Career goals
  - c. Personal philosophy on how individuals can make positive impacts which affect the environment and natural resources
  - d. Employment/volunteer experience

Applications must be postmarked by December 16, 2022. Selected award recipients will be notified by phone by January 10, 2023.

Please mail completed application and supporting information to:

Iowa Women in Natural Resources
Attn: Lori Eberhard
2659 Wyth Road
Waterloo, IA 50701